

Above All Else: Orca Sports

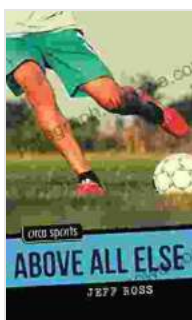

Synopsis

In 2012, a group of athletes from Orca Sports set out to achieve the seemingly impossible: to climb Mount Everest, the tallest mountain in the world. Led by renowned mountaineer Conrad Anker, the team faced treacherous conditions, blizzards, and avalanches. But they also found camaraderie, hope, and the indomitable spirit that drives human beings to push their limits.

Above All Else: Orca Sports chronicles their inspiring journey, from their grueling training regimen to their perilous ascent of the world's most unforgiving peak. Along the way, they learn about themselves, their teammates, and the true meaning of courage. The book is a gripping account of human endeavor and a testament to the power of the human spirit.
