Join Alice as she encounters a talking kiwi, a mischievous kea, and a wise old pukeko in the lush rainforests of the North Island. Marvel at the ethereal glowworms in the Waitomo Caves and embark on a thrilling white-water rafting expedition down the mighty Whanganui River.

Beyond the North Island's verdant beauty, Alice ventures to the South Island, where she witnesses majestic glaciers, snow-capped mountains, and sparkling turquoise lakes. Accompanied by a mischievous kea, she explores the rugged Milford Sound, its towering cliffs echoing with the calls of seals and seabirds.

Encounters with Curious Creatures and Inspiring Landscapes

Throughout her journey, Alice encounters an array of extraordinary creatures, each representing a unique aspect of New Zealand's natural heritage. From the playful dolphins in the Bay of Islands to the elusive kiwi in the native forests, these encounters weave a rich and diverse tapestry of the country's wildlife.

The novel's vivid descriptions of New Zealand's landscapes will transport you to this breathtaking country, where nature's wonders unfold at every turn. From the geothermal wonders of Rotorua to the pristine beaches of the Coromandel Peninsula, the novel paints a captivating portrait of a land that is both awe-inspiring and enchanting.
