Once you've chosen your wedding venue, the next step is to start planning your budget. The average cost of a wedding in Cyprus is around €20,000, but this can vary depending on the number of guests, the time of year, and the type of wedding you're planning.

Here are a few tips for staying within your budget:

- Set a realistic budget and stick to it.
- Shop around for vendors and compare prices.
- Consider having your wedding during the off-season when prices are lower.
- Keep your guest list small to save on food and drink costs.
- DIY as much as possible, such as making your own invitations or decorations.

Choosing Your Wedding Vendors

Once you've set your budget, it's time to start choosing your wedding vendors. This includes your photographer, videographer, florist, cake baker, and other professionals who will help make your big day special.

Here are a few tips for choosing your wedding vendors:

- Get recommendations from friends or family who have recently gotten married.
- Read online reviews to see what other couples have said about their experience with different vendors.
- Meet with potential vendors in person to get to know them and see if they're a good fit for you.
- Get everything in writing, including the price, the services provided, and the cancellation policy.
- Book your vendors early, especially if you're getting married during the peak season.

Creating a Personalized Wedding

Your wedding should be a reflection of your unique love story, so it's important to personalize it as much as possible. This can be done through your choice of venue, décor, music, and food.

Here are a few ideas for personalizing your wedding:
